

Abstract:

An underwater cable arrangement includes systems and method for distributing and/or transferring power and/or data to internal devices and external devices disposed
5 along an underwater cable. Under water coupling systems and underwater electrical devices may be used in the distribution and/or transfer of the power and/or data.